MANILA: Philippines' President Rodrigo Duterte on Friday once again told the people of his country to disinfect their face masks with petrol, while insisting that he was "not joking", it was reported on Friday. He had made similar remarks last week, but officials were quick to correct him, and suggested it was a joke, the BBC reported. Referring to his earlier comments, the President said on Friday: "What I've said was true. If alcohol isn't available, especially for the poor, just go to a gasoline station, and use (gas) to disinfect. I am not joking."

Pay for news: Oz tells Google, FB

AGENCIES
Canberra

The Australian government said on Friday it plans to give Google and Facebook three months to negotiate with Australian media businesses fair pay for news content.

In releasing a draft of a mandatory code of conduct, the government aims to succeed where other countries have failed in making the global digital giants pay for news siphoned from commercial media companies.

Google said Australia's draft code was a heavy-handed step that could impede the digital economy.

Treasurer Josh Frydenberg said Google and Facebook would be the first digital platforms targeted by the proposed legislation but others could follow.

"It's about a fair go for Australian news media busi-

Breaches of the code could attract penalties of up to 10 per cent of the platform's annual turnover or a 10 million Australian dollar ($7.2 million) fine nesses, it's about ensuring that we have increased competition, increased consumer protection and a sustainable media landscape," Frydenberg said.

"Nothing less than the future of the Australian media landscape is at stake with these changes," he added.

If the US-based platforms could not agree with the Australian media businesses on pricing after three months, arbitrators would be appointed to make a binding decision, the draft said.

BORIS HITS THE PAUSE BUTTON ON ENGLAND LOCKDOWN EASING

Says, 'we must squeeze the brake pedal' after the rate of COVID-19 infection doubled in July

ADITI KHANNA / London

UK Prime Minister Boris Johnson on Friday applied brakes on further easing of lockdown measures, due from this weekend, in England, fearing a spike in the COVID-19 cases.

Johnson said, "we must squeeze the brake pedal" to keep the virus under control and also announced that face coverings will become mandatory across many more indoor settings, such as cinemas, besides just public transport and shops and supermarkets after the rate of infection doubled during July. Johnson said coronavirus cases have started to 'creep up' - with the Office for National Statistics estimating there are now 4,200 new infections every day, up from 2,000 per day at the end of June - and as a result the Government had no choice but to delay the further reopening of the economy, reports the Daily Mail.

"The prevalence of the virus in the community, in England, is likely to be rising for the first time since May," said Johnson, referring to the Office for National Statistics data.

"That means until August

15 at the earliest casinos, bowling alleys, skating rinks and the remaining close-contact services must remain closed. Indoor performances will not resume, pilots of larger gatherings in sports venues and conference centres will not take place, and wedding receptions of up to 30 people will not be permitted," he said.

The UK PM insisted that progress against coronavirus continues, with the daily and weekly number of deaths falling, but warned that some European countries are "struggling" to control it.

Voting delay? Prez Trump walks back

LALIT K JHA / Washington

Hours after sparking a political firestorm, US President Donald Trump said on Thursday he does not want to delay the election, but expressed apprehension that counting of mailed ballots could take weeks and hamper the results, leading to a compromised poll.

US presidential elections are scheduled to be held on November 3. Seeking his second consecutive term, Trump is facing a formidable challenge from Democratic nominee and former vice president Joe Biden, who, according to major national polls, is leading in double digits.

Trump on Thursday for the first time openly floated the idea of postponing the presidential elections in November.

"I don't want to delay. I want to have the election. But I also don't want to have to wait for three months and then find out that the ballots are all missing and the election doesn't mean anything," Trump told reporters at a news conference when asked about his tweet suggesting election be delayed.

Trump, the only leader to address UNGA in person

YOSHITA SINGH / New York

US President Donald Trump is likely to travel to New York to attend the annual UN General Assembly session in September, the only world leader to address this year's virtual high-level week in person, the US envoy to the UN said.

"We're hoping that President Trump will actually be speaking in person in the General Assembly. He will be the only world leader to be speaking in person," US Ambassador Kelly Craft said.

World leaders will submit pre-recorded video statements for the high-level week, the 193-member organisation had decided last week.

Bill Clinton partied with Epstein at 'pedophile island', docs reveal

AGENCIES / New York

Newly unsealed court documents provide a fresh glimpse into a fierce civil court fight between Jeffrey Epstein's ex-girlfriend, Ghislaine Maxwell, and one of the women who accused the couple of sexual abuse.

The documents released Thursday were from a now-settled defamation lawsuit filed by one of Epstein's alleged victims, Virginia Roberts Giuffre.

Giuffre claimed in the suit and other litigation that Maxwell recruited her in 2000 to be a sexual servant to Epstein. She said the couple subsequently pressured her into having sex with numerous rich or notable men, including Britain's Prince Andrew, US politicians, wealthy entrepreneurs, a famous scientist and fashion designer.

Virginia Roberts told investigators that Bill Clinton stayed in Jeffrey Epstein's villa on the billionaire pedophile's private Caribbean island because he owed him 'a favor', reports the Daily Mail.

Brazil's first lady tests +ve

BRASILIA: Michelle Bolsonaro, wife of Brazil's President Jair Bolsonaro, and Science, Technology and Innovation Minister Marcos Pontes are the latest high-profile Brazilians to have tested positive for the novel coronavirus (COVID-19), president's office announced.

The first lady, 38, "is in good health and will follow all of the established protocols," the president's office said on Thursday, Xinhua news agency reported.

President Bolsonaro tested positive earlier, as did some members of his cabinet.

Pontes said via Twitter he had several symptoms of the disease and begun treatment, and would work remotely from his home.

CORONA VACCINE TRACKER

UK to immunize hundreds with coronavirus vaccine

Scientists at Imperial College London say they are immunizing hundreds of people with an experimental coronavirus vaccine in an early trial after seeing no worrying safety problems in a small number vaccinated so far. Dr Robin Shattock, a professor at the college, told The Associated Press that he and colleagues had just finished a very slow and arduous process of testing the vaccine at a low dose in the initial participants and would now expand the trial to about 300 people, including some over age 75.

Japan signs deal with Pfizer Inc and BioNTech

Pfizer Inc and BioNTech SE have agreed to supply Japan with 120 million doses of their experimental coronavirus vaccine in the first half of 2021, the companies said on Friday. The companies did not disclose the financial details of the agreement, but said terms were based on the volume of doses and the timing of the delivery, according to Reuters report. Meanwhile, Pharma giants Glaxo-SmithKline and Sanofi Pasteur have announced they will supply 400 million doses of its experimental COVID-19 vaccine to the United States as governments buy up supplies in hopes something will work.

FALSE VS FACT

News: A app that measures blood oxygen level using the phone's camera

These days there is a WhatsApp message circulated that claims that a mobile application — Pedometer 2018 — can measure oxygen levels in the blood by using nothing but the phone's rear camera. It is a huge hit among WhatsApp fanatics and other social media users. It states if a person places his/her index finger on the phone's rear camera, the app would then be able to measure the oxygen levels in one's blood. On Facebook, the viral forward reads, "Those who haven't yet got a pulse Oximeter, and even others please install this app and measure oxygen level daily in this COVID time and if oxygen level falls below 90 please consult a doctor immediately." It further mentions how to use the app.

Fact: According to cybersecurity experts, it is nearly impossible to measure the oxygen level of a person with just a mobile phone. Pedometer 2018 in its optical measuring principle claims that using just the phone flashlight as a light source it can capture the pulse of the blood capillary. However, Dr Jeenam Shah, consultant chest physician and interventional pulmonologist, Saifee, Wockhardt and Bhatia Hospital, who also called the app a fake, stated that oxygen measuring devices like oximeter use infrared technology which is not present in an ordinary phone. According to the Centre for Evidence-Based Medicine at the University of Oxford, smartphones should not be used clinically as oximeters.

Conclusion: No, the 'much talked' about app can't measure blood levels via camera. In short, this was a fake claim.
